Reflections:	I tried many different varieties of activities to promote higher level learning in the classroom. I found that some ways were more effective than others. It was fun to see what worked best for the class and what did not.
Overall Rating:	Proficient
Reflections:	When the students were going over a certain topic, I would walk around and look at what they were doing and made sure that I knew how to do what they were doing. With some things I needed a refresher and I made sure to look over the material before I would teach it.
Overall Rating:	Proficient
Reflections:	I believe that I connected well with the students while still being professional. There were times were I wanted to say something but had to evaluate whether it was professional or not. I have a younger brother in the same grade that I was teaching so sometimes I wanted to treat them and talk to them like I would my brother, however, that is not appropriate or professional and would have made me seem more like a sister than a teacher.
